THE SECOND CENTURY CELEBRATION

SMU marked the fourth year of The Second Century Celebration in 2013–14. The five-year commemoration celebrates the 100th anniversaries of SMU's founding in 1911 and opening in 1915, and highlights SMU's past, present and future as a center of learning and research. The centennial commemoration runs concurrently with The Second Century Campaign, which continues to propel SMU's progress.

As part of The Second Century Celebration, SMU continued to mark the Year of the Library in fall 2013, commemorating the centennial of the founding of the University's first library. The University also launched a celebration of the Year of the Faculty in spring 2014, celebrating the contributions of SMU's esteemed faculty. Read about highlights from both of these special commemorations on the following pages.

UNBRIDLED IMPACT

YEAR _____

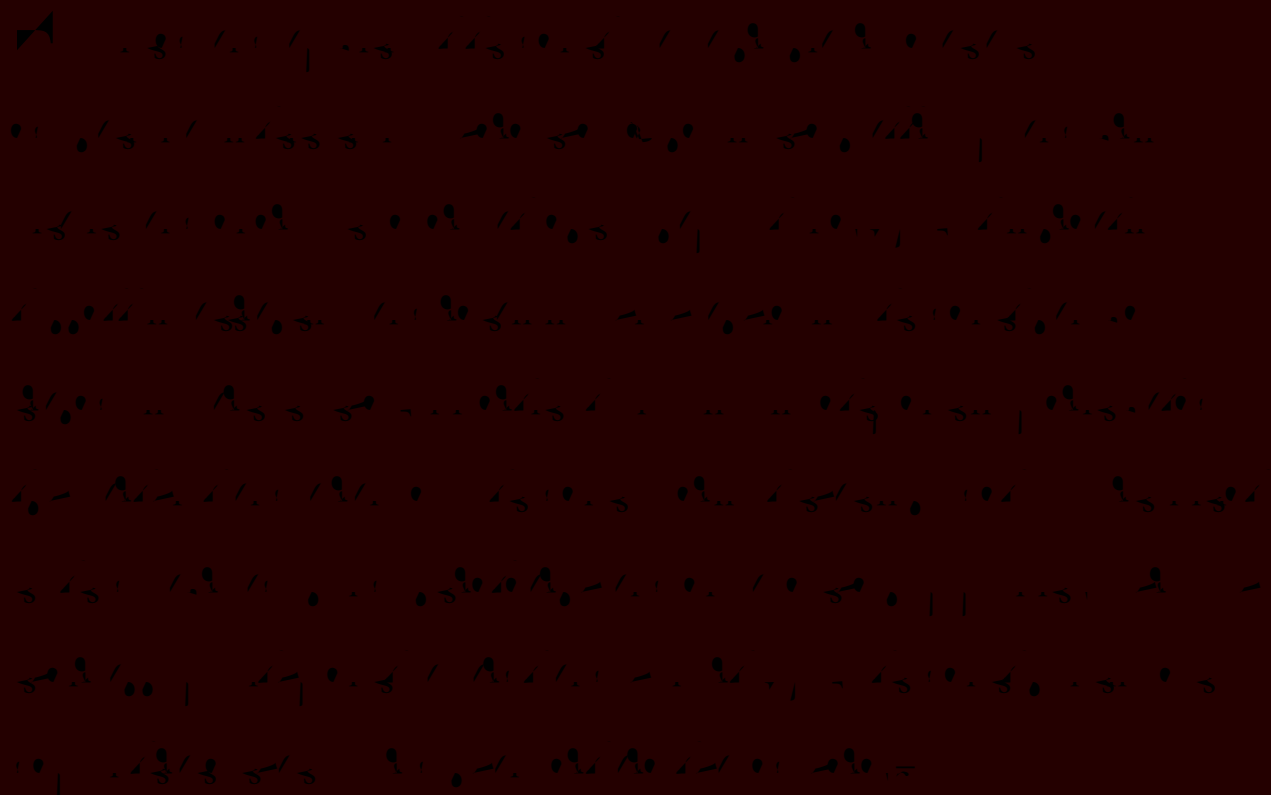

YEAR OF THE FACULTY

SMU embarked upon a commemoration of the Year of the Faculty in spring 2014, marking the 100th anniversary of the recruitment of the University's first faculty members by Robert S. Hyer, SMU's first president. Highlighting the achievements of SMU's esteemed faculty also is a way to remind alumni, parents and friends that their support for faculty has a profound impact on the University, making it possible to recruit and retain experts in a range of disciplines. SMU has set a goal of reaching a total of 110 endowed faculty positions.

The Year of the Faculty features special events throughout the year. Founders' Day Weekend in April included a faculty tribute by President R. Gerald Turner during his President's Briefing on the state of the University, a faculty reception and the presentation of a resolution honoring faculty, passed by the Board of Trustees. Several faculty members also made presentations during SMU's annual academic enrichment event, Inside SMU Powered by TEDxSMU, attended by alumni, parents and other guests.

A highlight of Founders' Day Weekend events included the official Centennial Faculty Photo of full-time and emeritus professors. In addition, a special SMU website was created to showcase individual faculty members and their remarkable achievements across the spectrum of disciplines (smu.edu/yearofthefaculty). It features more than 400 annive

SCHOLARSHIPS SUPPORT STUDENT QUALITY

Support for scholarships is playing a central role in helping SMU attract and retain top students. (Left) Hunt Leadership Scholar Monica Finnegan '15 serves as vice president of SMU's student body and is majoring in accounting and communication studies. SMU celebrated the 20th anniversary of the Nancy Ann and Ray L. Hunt Leadership Scholars Program in 2013–14 (see story on page 18).

SMU EXCEEDS GOAL 500 ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIPS

In 2013–14 SMU achieved a major milestone of progress in its continuing rise by surpassing its goal of creating 500 scholarships during The Second Century Campaign, reaching a total of 501. These scholarships significantly impact the rising quality of SMU's undergraduate student body. The range of merit-based scholarships offered by SMU has broadened to include general University scholarships as well as those that support specific studies, majors and interests.

IMPACT OF SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarship support has the capacity to change students' lives. Each year scholarship recipients are invited to write letters to express appreciation to donors whose generosity has helped them to attend SMU. As SMU marks the milestone achievement of creating more than 500 endowed scholarships during The Second Century Campaign, we are pleased to share excerpts from some of these letters.

"I am in the Honors Program and also the BBA Scholars Program. My goal at SMU is to give back to the school and make the most of my time here. . . . Your generous scholarship means the world to me. Without it I would not be here at SMU, and I doubt I would have been able to accomplish nearly as much."

—Amanda B. '16

"This University is one of the top in the nation with tremendous relationships that will assure my future success. I plan to major in both advertising and fashion media while minoring in photography and graphic design. . . . This scholarship is a once-in-a-lifetime chance to pursue and focus on my goals."

—Jenna L. '16

"Without your generous scholarship, I would not be able to pursue my goal of owning my own counseling center after earning my master's in counseling psychology on this beautiful campus. I am deeply grateful for your generosity."

—Amanda B. '16

"I hoped to study at SMU with Dr. Sunday Elseth, a professor of southwest archaeology at SMU, specializing in community-based archaeology. Now I have worked as a research assistant for Dr. Elseth for the last three years. . . . I work extremely hard to take advantage of the opportunities here that would not be possible without the generous support of people like you."

—Amanda B. '16

STUDENT PROJECTS PROMOTE LEARNING OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM

Students throughout SMU developed and completed special projects as part of SMU's Engaged Learning program in 2013–14. The program – which includes both Engaged Learning and Big iDeas projects – provides enhanced opportunities for learning beyond the classroom.

Fifty-one students worked with 39 faculty and staff mentors on Engaged Learning projects that spanned 12 countries. Approved projects are eligible to receive up to $2,000 in grants for related expenses. Forty graduating Engaged Learning Fellows presented their final projects during Engaged Learning Week in February. A few examples:

- Psychology major Mariam Alaka '14 researched children's knowledge and prevention awareness of AIDS in Nigeria, where she worked at an orphanage that serves children whose parents have died from the disease.
- Eric Alt '14, a double major in chemistry and mechanical engineering, investigated ways to create an organic chemical cleaner to remove toxic heavy metals such as mercury, cadmium and lead from contaminated soils and waters.
- Theatre major Kristen Kelso '14 researched the art and culture of street performing while studying abroad in London, using her findings to create a solo performance piece reflecting the challenges of this age-old art form.

Nine interdisciplinary student teams received grants of up to $5,000 for projects designed by students to address key problems facing Dallas and North Texas, as part of the Big iDeas program. Grant-winning projects included:

- A consulting service to provide free college admissions advice to low-income high school students.
- A plan to improve literacy rates in Dallas.
- A free shuttle service to Dallas' White Rock Local Market, as well as an SMU Bazaar located at the market for student arts, crafts and other entrepreneurial endeavors.

Additionally, the Engaged Learning office's commitment to the objectives of the Clinton Global Initiative University Network helped seven SMU students share their research and goals with international thought leaders and policy makers at the organization's March 2014 meeting in Phoenix.

STUDENT TRAVEL

SMU offers students a wide range of opportunities for travel in the United States and beyond for research, coursework, internships and community service. These experiences enrich students' academic and professional development and help SMU continue to attract high achievers. A few examples from 2013–14:

- The SMU Civil Rights Pilgrimage during spring break took students, faculty and staff to visit the American South's civil rights landmarks. Stops included Little Rock Central High School in Arkansas; the Edmund Pettus Bridge in Selma, Alabama; Montgomery's Dexter Avenue Baptist Church; the campus of the University of Mississippi in Oxford; and the Lorraine Motel in Memphis.
- The Embrey Human Rights Program offers study trips throughout the year that provide stark reminders of past and current human rights issues. During 2013–14 travel opportunities included a winter break trip to Poland, where students visited World War II death camps, and a spring break trip to France, where students studied the role that country played in the Holocaust.
- The Cary M. Maguire Center for Ethics and Public Responsibility, with financial assistance from the Irby Family Foundation, awarded eight summer fellowships to SMU students for public service or research in the field of ethics. Students volunteered in public schools in Peru and conducted research on health disparities in Brazil and Uganda. (Below center) Spencer Bogle, a Ph.D. candidate in Systematic Theology in Dedman College, in the Busoga region of Uganda.

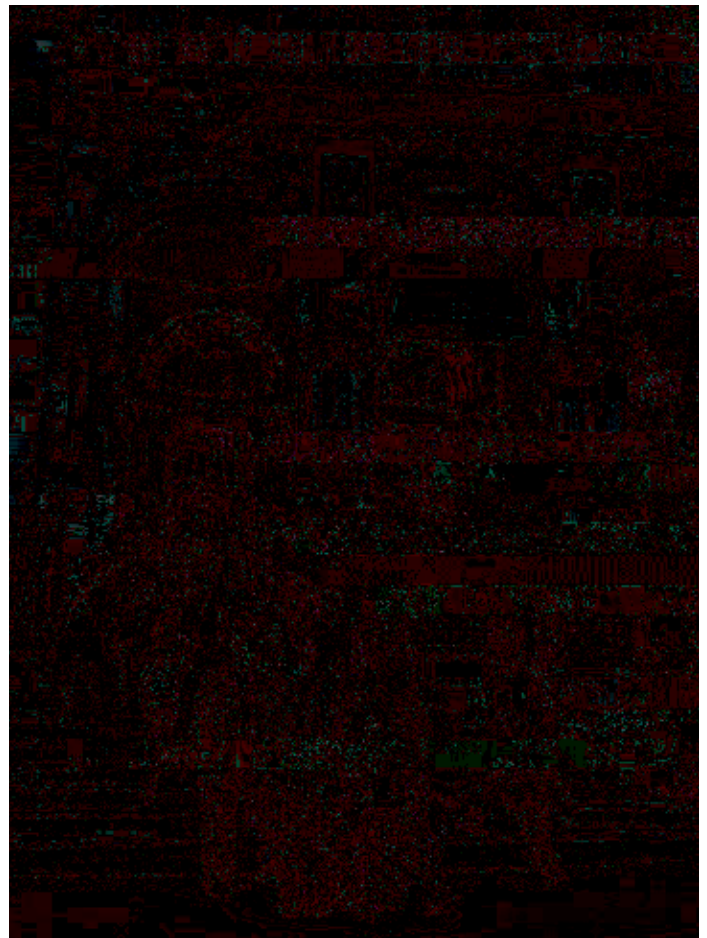

- In October eight students traveled to Washington, D.C., as part of the Hilltop on the Hill program. They visited media and government sites and met with political communicators, journalists and SMU alumni.
- Thirty-five SMU science and engineering students spent spring break in San Juan, Puerto Rico, at the Minority Trainee Research Forum. Participants are members of the STeMPREP Project at SMU, a mentorship and internship program for minority students interested in science, technology, engineering or math (STEM) to pursue medical or biomedical research careers.

STRENGTHEN LEARNING

RECRUITMENT

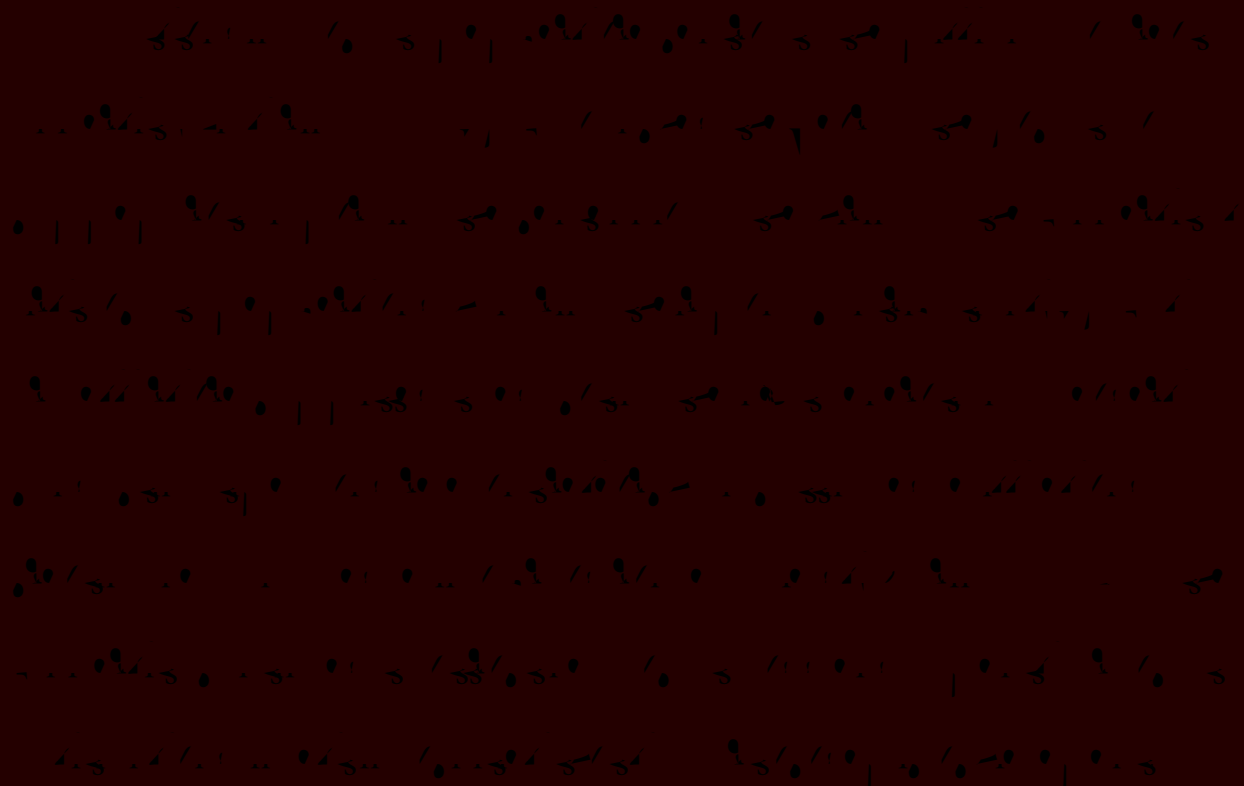

- As part of the Global Theological Education Program in Perkins School of Theology, students traveled to Cape Town and Durban, South Africa; Taizé, France (below); Israel and the Palestinian territories; and El Salvador. The trips offered students significant hands-on immersion experiences, grassroots interreligious dialogue and exposure to cross-cultural ministries.

- In 2014 SMU marked the 27th year of participation in Alternative Breaks, in which students serve community organizations while learning about issues such as the environment, poverty, public health and education.

David J. Chard, Leon Simmons Endowed Dean of SMU's Annette Caldwell Simmons School of Education and Human Development, was elected by fellow board members in February as chairman of the National Board for Education Sciences. The 15-member board oversees and directs the work of the Institute of Education Sciences, the primary research and evaluation arm of the U.S. Department of Education.

Blake Hackler, assistant professor of theatre in Meadows School of the Arts, received a Fulbright Scholars grant in April. He will conduct research and also teach and direct theatre at New Bulgarian University in Sofia, working with the Sfumato Theatre Laboratory, an internationally recognized troupe that produces highly physical interpretations of classic plays.

Christopher Jenks, assistant professor in Dedman School of Law, was awarded a Fulbright Scholars grant in April. He will spend six months in Australia researching how emerging technologies impact accountability in armed conflict. He will work in Melbourne at the Asia Pacific Centre for Military Law, a collaborative initiative between the Australian Department of Defense and Melbourne Law School.

Bonnie Wheeler, director of medieval studies in the Department of English in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, was honored for her wide-ranging contributions to medieval studies. Mediaevalia: Essays in Medieval History and Literature (Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University) features nearly 20 essays contributed by eminent medieval scholars from throughout the United States.

Rumanda Young, adjunct professor in the Civil and Environmental Engineering Department in Lyle School of Engineering, received the Wheeler Medal, a national award from the Society of American Military Engineers, in May 2014. The medal recognizes outstanding contributions by U.S. Army personnel to military engineering in design, construction, administration, research or development. In addition to teaching in the Lyle School's Master of Arts in Sustainability and Development program, Young is chief of the Master Planning Section in the Regional Planning and Environmental Center of the Fort Worth District Corps of Engineers.

GIFTS ESTABLISH FACULTY ENDOWMENTS CYBER SECURITY, MUSIC ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

New endowments for faculty positions enable SMU to attract and retain experts with national and international reputations in a variety of disciplines and add to the University's overall quality. In 2013–14 SMU received commitments for the establishment of the faculty positions listed below.

- The Bobby B. Lyle Centennial Distinguished Chair in Cyber Security in the Lyle School was established through an earlier campaign commitment of $3.5 million by SMU trustee Bobby B. Lyle '67. (Please see page 21.) The position was SMU's first Distinguished Centennial Chair. The "Centennial" designation indicates an endowment that includes start-up funding to activate the position on an expedited basis.
- The Martha Raley Peak Centennial Chair and Director of the Meadows Symphony Orchestra in Meadows School of the Arts was established through a $2 million gift from the Preston Peak family. Maestro Paul Phillips, professor of music and director of orchestral activities, is the first holder of the chair. As an SMU student, Martha Raley Peak '50 was a singer, violinist, pianist and member of the symphony and chorus. (Center, L-R) Maestro Paul Phillips, Martha Raley Peak and Martha Peak Rochelle '76 surrounded by the Meadows Symphony Orchestra.
- The Mary and Richard Templeton Centennial Chair of Electrical Engineering in the Lyle School was established through a $2 million gift from Mary and Richard Templeton. SMU EVENTS HIGHLIGHT COMMUNITY CONNECTION

SMU strengthened its connection to the community through a number of outreach initiatives throughout 2013–14. Examples include:

- Approximately 200 alumni, students and faculty in Dallas and 14 other cities around the country participated in the 2013 Stampede of Service day in October. SMU volunteers in Dallas worked at eight different service sites, including American Red Cross, Goodwill Industries of Dallas, Inc., Dallas Zoological Society, Brother Bill's Helping Hand (left) and others.
- SMU was a significant presence in the City of Dallas' Martin Luther King, Jr. Parade in January. The Mustang Band, SMU students, President R. Gerald Turner and Vice President for Development and External Affairs Brad E. Cheves took part in the march.
- SMU hosted Community Day as part of Founders' Day Weekend in April, featuring free activities open to the public. Families enjoyed an exhibit of artist Joaquín Sorolla's seaside landscapes in the Meadows Museum, where children created colorful paintings in the Impressionist style. Participants enjoyed wildflowers in the nearby Native Texas Park at the George W. Bush Presidential Center, which also sponsored events for the community.

MOODY COLISEUM MILLER EVENT CENTER DEDICATED

SMU's expanded and renovated Moody Coliseum and its new Miller Event Center were officially dedicated as part of December Commencement ceremonies held in the Coliseum. The renovation and expansion features new seating, entertainment areas and court improvements, yet the Coliseum retains the ambience that has made Moody a favorite venue for more than 50 years. A $20 million gift from the Moody Foundation in 2011 provided the impetus for the improvements. SMU trustee David Miller '72, '73 and Carolyn Miller committed $10 million toward the project. Also contributing $1 million or more to the project were: Belle Stumberg Berg '71 and Donald A. Berg '70, '77; Jane R. Bolin and Pat S. Bolin '73 and Carla P. and Daniel H. Bolin '76; Gina L. In addition to their athletic accomplishments, SMU student-athletes also were honored for their academic achievement in 2013–14. The University named Keena Mays '13 (women's basketball) and Garrett Gilbert '13 (football) as Mustang Student-Athletes of the Year. Maria Elena Villamil '13 (women's golf) received SMU's Presidential Award of Excellence, presented to a graduating senior with a 3.5 cumulative grade point average who has demonstrated outstanding ability on the field. The College Swimming Coaches Association of America named the men's and women's swimming and diving teams as Scholar All-America Teams based on cumulative grade point average in the semester of the NCAA championship. The swimming and diving teams also were recognized with the American Athletic Conference Team Academic Excellence Awards for the highest collective grade point averages in the conference sport.

BUSH CENTER SMU PARTNER EVENTS PROGRAMS

The George W. Bush Presidential Center enriched educational opportunities for the SMU campus in 2013–14 and benefited from its University connections. Several SMU professors served as instructors and mentors for the Bush Institute's third Women's Initiative Fellowship program, involving 17 participants from Tunisia. The George W. Bush Library and Museum partnered with SMU's Tower Center for Political Studies and the Center for Presidential History on public programs. In addition, President Bush (right) visited law, business and political science classes for informal Q&A sessions with students. The Bush Center welcomed new leadership, naming the Honorable Margaret Spellings, former U.S. Secretary of Education, as its president. In addition, SMU's Center for Presidential History began its Collective Memory Project focusing on the George W. Bush presidency and its times. The ongoing oral history project conducts in-depth interviews with members of presidential administrations, as well as with public officials and private citizens who played important roles during those administrations.

SMU PRESENTS DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARDS

SMU recognized four leaders in philanthropy, business and civic life in October with the highest honor the University can bestow upon graduates. The 2013 Distinguished Alumni were (L-R) community leader Peggy Higgins Sewell '72; investor Jeanne Roach Johnson '54; Brittany Merrill Underwood '07, an international advocate for women and children, who received the University's Emerging Leader Award recognizing a graduate within the last 15 years; and business leader Joseph "Jody" M. Grant '60. Past DAA recipients also were honored as history makers as part of SMU's ongoing centennial commemoration.

LAW GIFTS ESTABLISH NEW CENTER AND CLINIC

- The Judge Elmo B. Hunter Legal Center for Victims of Crimes Against Women in Dedman School of Law was established in February through an earlier campaign commitment of $5 million from SMU trustee Ray L. Hunt '65 and Nancy Ann Hunter Hunt '65. The Center is named in honor of Mrs. Hunt's father (right). Under the supervision of law faculty, the Center will provide services such as drafting protective orders, developing legal agreements and offering assistance with credit and housing issues.
- In March SMU received an anonymous commitment of $4 million to endow the new VanSickle Family Law Clinic in Dedman School of Law. The Clinic will provide free legal help for Dallas-area residents as well as essential skills training for Dedman Law students. Expected to open in fall 2015, the Clinic will provide low-income residents with services in matters such as divorce, annulment, paternity actions, custody and visitation, and child and spousal support.

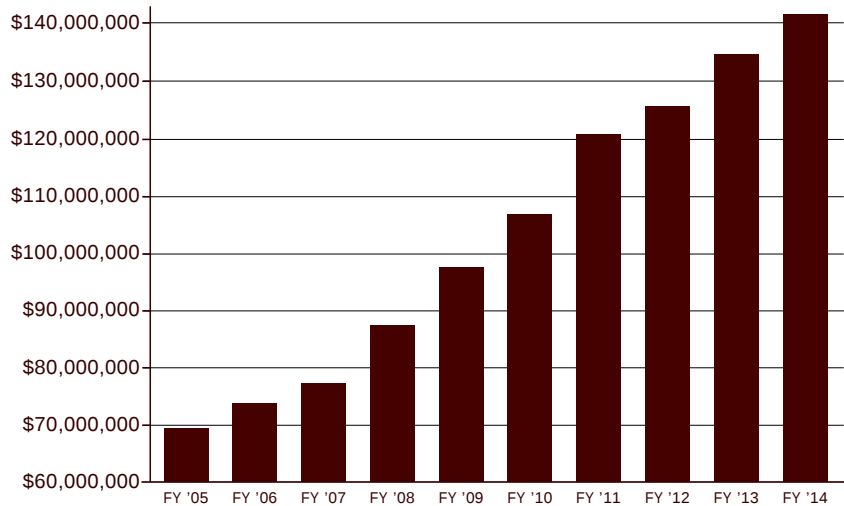

EXPENDITURES TOWARD STRATEGIC GOALS

During the past decade SMU has increased annual expenditures for scholarships, faculty and academic achievement in support of goals identified in the University's Strategic Plan.

ENDOWMENT REPORT

The SMU endowment ended the fiscal year on May 31, 2014, with a market value of $1.425 billion. This represented an increase of $157.1 million compared to the market value on May 31, 2013. Substantial endowment gifts of $35.6 million were received for the one-year period, while endowment distributions of $57 million provided support to University operations and accounted for 15% of the operating revenue budget. Multiple restricted and unrestricted purposes were funded, and included spendable funds for scholarships, faculty support, educational programs and libraries.

Total return was 13% for the one-year period ending May 31, 2014. Global Equities and Diversifying Strategies generated strong returns for the portfolio; Private Markets and Real Assets improved versus last year and performed well. The current global environment continues to challenge institutional investors. Equity markets have experienced more volatility in 2014 relative to last year. Instability created by ever-changing geopolitical events, the timing of possible increases in interest rates, deflationary pressures in Europe and the sustainability of growth in Asia also are topics of concern.

SMU’s donors have always been generous, and we thank them for their support of the University and the endowment over the past year. We pledge to concentrate on investment strategies and opportunities, which should allow the endowment to grow over time, and to maintain appropriate levels of risk and diversification. Meeting these goals over the long term will enable the endowment to support SMU into perpetuity.

CAMPAIGN UPDATE

The Second Century Campaign continued to support SMU's remarkable progress in 2013–14, enabling the University to move forward on enhancing student quality, faculty and academic excellence and the campus experience. In September 2013 SMU's Board of Trustees voted to raise the campaign goal to $1 billion in response to reaching the original $750 million goal more than two years ahead of

2013–14 HONOR ROLL
