

Registrar's Office

The Registrar's Office is responsible for maintaining the official records of the University. This includes the collection, maintenance, and dissemination of student and faculty records. The Office also oversees the process of degree conferral and the issuance of diplomas. Additionally, the Registrar's Office provides information and assistance to students and faculty regarding academic policies and procedures. The Office works closely with other university departments to ensure the accuracy and integrity of the records.

The Registrar's Office is a key component of the University's administrative structure. It plays a vital role in ensuring that the University's records are accurate and up-to-date. The Office also provides a wide range of services to students and faculty, including the processing of course registrations, the calculation of grade point averages, and the issuance of transcripts. The Registrar's Office is committed to providing excellent customer service and to maintaining the highest standards of academic integrity.

- (4) Utilize the professional placement services of one of the companies that has emerged over the past two decades to address child care needs of universities and other organizations.

The number of children five years and younger of our employees who might seek assistance with child care is approximately 370 children, according to [REDACTED] on the University Health Care Plan. Therefore, when considering child care as an employee benefit, the first logical question would be how best to provide support for the largest number of these children and their families as well as for all new employees that join us every year with children
